

Robert Graves' The Greek Myths was in a style that is not very appealing to me. In each chapter, Graves presenta description of a myth, followed by some notes. To make the reading more effective, I tried to turn the description and the notes into diagrams, so that I can picture the connections among all the difficult-to-pronounce names. As a result, the reading became a prolonged project, which helped me to learn the used of the L<sup>A</sup>T<sub>E</sub>X `tikz` package.

1 The Pelasgian Creation Myth

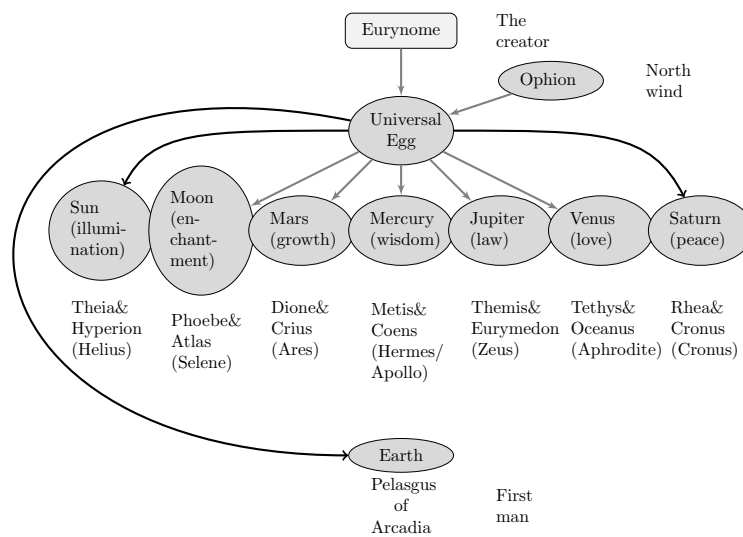

Figure 1: Time line of the Pelasgian creation myth

2 The Homeric Creation Myth

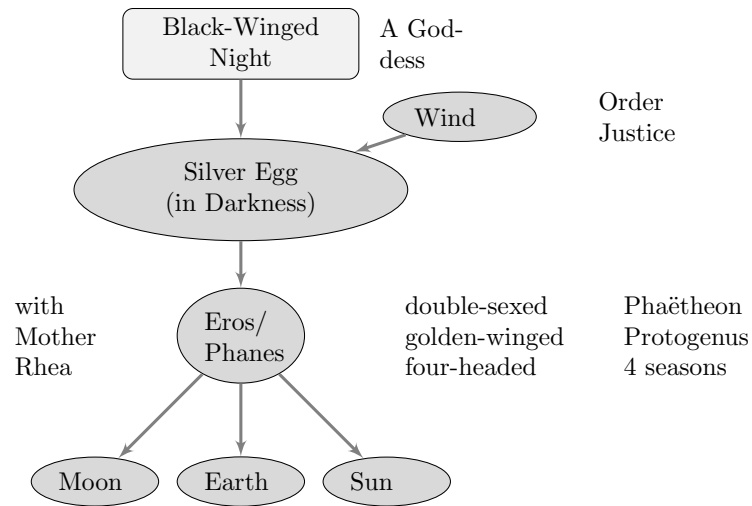

Figure 2: Homeric and Ophic creation myth

3 The Olympian Creation Myth

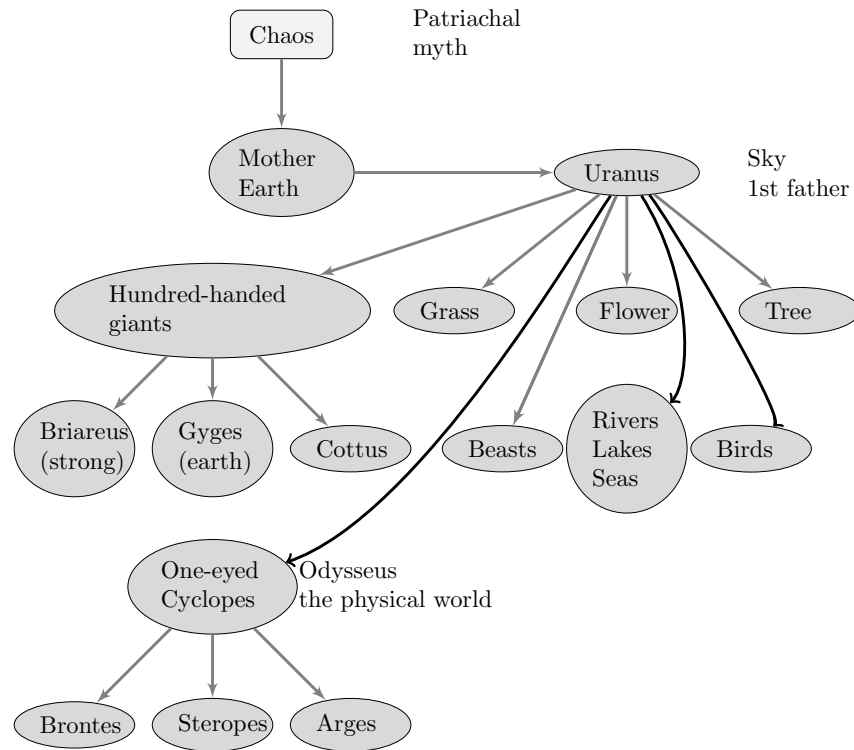

Figure 3: The Olympian creation myth